

Date: 27th June, 2018

PRESS-RELEASE

NIPER Students to Russia

“Russia has been organizing Global GxP summit on Pharmaceuticals since 2017 and it has become very popular event globally the way it has been organized last year. The 2nd edition of this summit is being organized in Sochi, second largest and modern city of Russia, between 3-6 July, 2018. Three NIPER Mohali students (1 PhD student, Department of Natural Products & 2 Masters students, Department of Pharmaceutics) have been invited to attend this important global summit on Pharmaceuticals in Russia through a process of selection based on their scientific presentations, internationally. All the expenses to attend this summit will be covered by the organizers of the summit, as has been informed by Prof. Sanjay Jachak, Incharge, Department of Natural Products of the Institute.

Prof. Raghuram Rao Akkinapally, Director NIPER Mohali congratulated the invited NIPER students for the said summit. He also expressed that it is indeed a proud moment for NIPER that our students are invited for such an important global conference on Drugs and Pharmaceuticals. The three invited students will make presentation on current research and development being carried out in the respective departments of NIPER. This global summit will be attended by several countries from North Europe and neighbouring countries of Russia and this year by NIPER, Mohali.”
